Academic mobility

The academic mobility of students at the Department of International Relations and International Law is based on the strategic planning programs of the Ministry of Education and Science of the Republic of Kazakhstan. Along with this, academic mobility of the students of the faculty is realized on the basis of memorandums concluded by the University with leading foreign universities (Great Britain, Spain, Germany, Czech Republic, USA, Canada, Russia, etc.).

The Bolashak program of the President of the Republic of Kazakhstan also provides an opportunity to receive education for gifted Kazakh youth in the best universities in the world for the development of their principles of human values through the program of academic mobility.

In accordance with the academic mobility program of the Department of International Relations and International Law in 2021, the second-year students of the specialty 6B03110 — «International Relations» L. Makhanbetzhan, D. Kamal were educated at the RUDN University (Moscow,RF).

In the first semester of 2022-2023 academic years, second and third years students of the Department of International Relations and International Law of the specialty 6B03110— «International Relations» L. Makhanbetzhan, S. Dulat was trained in the academic mobility program at the University of Łodź (Lodz, Poland).
In 2022-2023 academic years, second and third years students of the Department of International Relations and International Law of the specialty 6B03110— «International Relations» S. Beisenova, A. Seidalieva, A. Slam were trained for one semester at the Turība University (Riga, Latvia).

Thus, the number of students seeking to obtain high-quality knowledge is growing at the Department. Academic mobility gives the possibility of personal development of the student and is conducive to the further employment of graduates, and also contributes to the formation of sociability, tolerance, individual autonomy, linguistic pluralism and to the pursuit of competitiveness of future specialists.
